CONNECTING TO MORE OF ALBERTA

ALBERTA AND ONTARIO sometimes compete for the title of the top province in farm income, but when it comes down to the amount of land farmed, it's not even close. Alberta is second only to Saskatchewan in total acreage, but that acreage stretches over a much bigger area. Though there's a couple of breaks in between, Alberta's farmland stretches more than 1,300 kilometres from the U.S. border to the North Peace River area, not far from the Yukon.

Alberta is famous for its cattle grazing on scenic rangeland along the foothills of the Rockies and the big feedlots in the south, but that big farm income figure is also made up of everything from farms growing canola, wheat, barley, peas and edible beans through specialty horticulture and greenhouse operations.

Despite the variety of their production over such a wide area, Alberta farmers have a lot in common through their organizations, government programs and just wanting to know what's going on in agriculture in the province. For that, they rely on Alberta Farmer Express. With circulation of 44,500 every second week, it reaches most farm mailboxes from north to south, making it the most economical choice for reaching farmers in this dynamic agricultural province.
